

Webinar on "Evolution of Smart Agricultural Systems"

ICAR-RCER, Patna, Date: 20th May 2022

ICAR-RCER, Patna organized a webinar on "Evolution of Smart Agricultural Systems" on 20th May, 2022 on the Zoom platform as a part of "Bharat ki Azadi ka Amrit Mahotsav" the major objective was to create awareness and update the knowledge of scientist, faculties, students and stakeholders. At the beginning of the program Dr. Ashutosh Upadhyaya, Director (A), ICAR-RCER, Patna chaired the session and narrated the rationale of the webinar. He also discussed about the importance and need of Smart Agricultural Systems in current scenario.

The key speaker Dr. Subrajeet Mohapatra, Assistant Professor, Dept. of Computer Science and Engineering, BIT Mesra, India delivered the lecture on "Evolution of Smart Agricultural Systems". He presented the detailed view of role and importance of Digital Farming, Precision farming, IoT based Smart agricultural systems etc. and creates awareness among the farmers, students and other stakeholders towards use of smart systems for efficient resource management in agriculture.

At the end of this session, the speakers also interacted with the participants. The webinar was registered by 213 participants and attended more than 100 participants from all over the country. The webinar was successfully organized with the active coordination of all the scientists of Division of Land and Water Management, and Technical support provided by Mr. Sarfaraj Ahmad of ICAR-RCER, Patna. The program ended with the formal vote of thanks by Dr. Akram Ahmed.

(Source: ICAR Research Complex for Eastern Region, Patna)